FINAL CONFLICT

ISSN 1463-614x

FC is produced every three months to offer people a change from the bland nonsense put out by the New World Order.

We publish serious and humorous material - so if you can't think for yourself, or take a joke: go and read the quasi-Tory 'Reaction Monthly'.

FC is a non profit making independent magazine, though editorially it supports the Third Position. Material printed doesn't necessarily reflect the view of FC or the TP. We're just a magazine trying to inform Nationalist bods

FINAL CONFLICT

The recent European National Revolutionary camp, which took place in Poland, is a sign that the Nationalist movement is starting to co-operate as never before. It follows similar meetings and camps that have taken place in Spain and England.

Indeed, as we go to press, a meeting has taken place in England with leading Comrades from eight European countries. This meeting was not about flag-waving, sound bytes and press releases in an effort to grab headlines — it was about consolidating the Movement right across Europe.

Thankfully the days when "wogs begin at Calais" reactionaries were a part of the Nationalist cause is at an end. The fact that the TP ideology is being embraced right across Europe from Scandinavia in the North to Italy in the South, from the Baltic Nations in the East to Ireland in the West is a hefty blow to our enemies who have used almost every way to discredit and destroy us.

If we are to build a future in Europe, free from the bankers, bureaucrats and traitor politicians in Brussels, we must start building a new European unity now. That unity is the unity of ideals, the unity of action and the unity of Nationalism.

If we are to fight Marxism and Capitalism, if we are to be free of Freemasonry and its One World religion, we must raise the banner of Tradition and Honour right across Europe.

Our Nations are dear to us. But so is the European soil from which they sprang. When we say 'No More Brothers Wars', it is more than just a slogan — we mean it! Our enemy is vast and powerful. We must resolve any small differences and move to fight the enemy. Those who waste time attacking another European people for historical reasons — be it the French, the Germans, the Poles, the Irish, the Spanish, the Russians or the English are missing the whole point.

If you fail to see the relevance, read the Protocols of the Learned Elders of Zion! Our enemies have sought to divide and rule for too long. Now is the time for unity — the unity of the European peoples, the Europe of 100 flags — against the EU and its squalid aim to shackle the European peoples.

That is why the fight against the EU, the New World Order and Judeo-Freemasonry is being embraced by Comrades in Germany and Spain, Romania and Slovakia.

Right across Europe our banner is being unfurled.

FIGHTING THE ANTI-WHITE WITCH-HUNT

"RACISM" is the worst crime imaginable! That is a fact in Blair's Bolshevik Britain. Paedophiles get the kid-glove treatment. Muggers are left in peace. Homosexuals are given "equal rights" with families... and so on ad nauseum!

But if you are a "racist" then watch out! You are the cause for all our miseries! You are the worst criminal in the world!

In light of the Macpherson report no-one is safe. Now we find that firemen are racist and that foreman at Ford's Dagenham car plant are racist too.

Would you rather have a 'pc' unprofessional fire brigade that caused the death of people? It seems the system would!

Have they forgotten that Dagenham has a "mainly Asian workforce"? tell that to the White unemployed of East London. Tell them that's "racist".

What we are witnessing is the fact that the 'pc' brigade — politicians, media, celebrities and police bigwigs — think they can carry on their "crusade" against anything even remotely White.

Thus we see Fire Brigade and manufacturing unions turning against their own White workforce in the fire brigades and at Dagenham. And this is just the start.

As we have seen, the judiciary have been issued 'pc' guidelines and the education system has been attacked for "institutional racism" — when it should be attacked for dumbing down, poor results and multi-racist pap.

So what can we do? We can organise and agitate!

Join the 'England for the English' campaign (see below). Spread copies of The Voice of St. George or leaflets around your workplace, housing estate etc. And most importantly, speak to people who are likely to be aggrieved at this anti-White, anti-English atmosphere. Feed their anger on this and the crazy stance on homosexuals and paedophiles by all the political parties.

If you are in a situation where specific material is needed — a localised sticker, leaflet or broadsheet — then get in touch with FC. We can help.

By hitting back in every way we can against this multi-racist brainwashing and anti-White witch-hunt we can win more people to our cause and put the pc brigade on the defensive.

WHAT HIDDEN AGENDA?

WHEN Stephen Lawrence's pal, Duwayne Brooks, was arrested for rape it was barely mentioned in the news. When one of the "Lawrence 5" was arrested for robbery it made national headlines. If one of the White boys had been arrested for rape there would have been an unholy uproar!

ENGLAND FOR THE ENGLISH:

NEW POSTER CAMPAIGN

WHILST THE recently launched anti-EU campaign is ongoing and is bringing in excellent enquiries and contacts, the Third Position has also launched an 'England for the English' campaign, based on the first ever mass distribution full colour English nationalist poster.

With the slogan 'England for the English' in blue writing with a red outline, and the TP's name, phone, address, e-mail and web-site, the A3 poster is bound to strike a chord with many thousands of our beleaguered people.

The design, of a White girl draped in the English flag (see back cover of this FC) is meant to remind our people that England has a future and everything to be proud of in its future generations — despite the efforts, in promoting a 'dumbed down' education and race-mixing, by the traitors in Westminster.

It will also remind the English people, that whilst the peoples of Wales and Scotland are permitted their patriotism (even if within certain 'pc' parameters), the people of England are denied their nationhood by the politicians and media.

The poster is going out as a free insert with #19 of The Voice of St. George. It also on sale at ridiculously cheap prices to ensure widespread distribution — for example, 100 copies for just £12.50 (see page 19).

So do your bit! Imagine the impression when people sick of preferential treatment of immigrants, or sick of Brussels bureaucracy, or sick of the anti-English media see this poster, in full colour, on their high street!

So get out there and spread the word. This is our land and we want it back!

ENGLAND FOR THE ENGLISH!

THE FC 2000 FUND

Donations... £5 - DC, Cambs. £20 - AB, London. 70p - NW, Grimsby. £2.50 - MG, Gillingham. £4 - ST, Gwent, Wales. £20 - LR, Streatham, London. $20 - T.L., Canada. £10 - FW, Isleworth. £5 - VH, Mid Glam, Wales. Total to date = £1137.41.

We would ask supporters to keep sending donations in for the general running costs of FC. We do need your help to keep FC coming out regularly, so don't stop donating! We rely on the donations of supporters.

ULSTER: PRO-LIFE VICTORY!

ONE OF THE positive aspects of the 'troubles' in Ulster is the fact that both Catholic and Protestant peoples are intensely pro-life. This is something the pc brigade and Marxists have tried to overturn - but to no avail.

Precious Life are a non-denominational Pro-Life group, founded two years ago by Bernadette Smyth. PL is a "sister organisation" to Youth Defence in the Irish Republic (see past FCs). PL have taken the fight to the abortionists with pickets of "advisory centres" (abortion is still illegal in Ulster) which send women to have abortions in England.

The "Brook Advisory Centre" in Belfast was closed down by a mysterious arson attack.

Back in March the Red 'Sunday World' paper tried to smear Precious Life by highlighting links to the Crusaders to the Unborn Child "which distribute the same shocking pictures" of dead babies. Tut tut. How awful!

Well done Precious Life! Keep up the good work!

HOLOCAUST DAY SHOWS JEWISH RACISM!

THE NEWS that this treacherous Westminster regime is planning a Holocaust Day on January 27th shows the depth of Jewish Racism in England and Europe today.

How can it be otherwise when one studies the facts?

The Jews who are alleged to have died in the Holohoax were not British. So why have a Memorial Day forced on the peoples of these islands?

There have been umpteen cases in Europe which have been more deserving of our attention — not least the incredible murders and forced starvations carried out by the Bolsheviks.

These form part of 100 Million people murdered by Socialism throughout the world — so why not a Day for the Victims of Socialism?

The answer is obvious.

But let us look at another angle.

Why don't we have a Day of Remembrance for British people who have died? We could have the men, women and children who died at the hands of the Japanese in WW2 — and the survivors who have had to battle the government at every step of the way for even the most basic recognition of their plight!

Or we could remember the victims of Capitalism and Westminster policy in these isles — the men, women and children forced into slums, who died in factories and mines, who were pressed ganged and died on ships, those who were cleared from the Highlands and sent overseas to work as slaves on plantations. Those who were banned from speaking Welsh in their own land. Those who died in the Irish famine when grain houses stood full for export... There are too many victims home grown, so why do we have a Holocaust Memorial Day?

FC makes the call for a Memorial Day to be held on the 26th of January for the 100 Million victims of Socialism. This will help put the supposed 6 million into perspective.

Again, the answer is obvious!

We'll have a Holocaust Memorial Day because world Judaeo-Freemasonry demand it. These 'memorial days' are being pushed in America, Europe, Australia and elsewhere.

Our own people are ignored. The White, Christian and other gentile victims of Socialism are ignored... because of Jewish racism!

Jews are taught that they are somehow "chosen" and a cut above the rest of us. That is why their "victims" (fictitious or otherwise) mean more than all the many hundreds, thousands and millions of gentiles who have suffered at the hands of International Capitalism and International Communism.

The Holocaust Day will keep the shekels rolling to Israel, "survivor's" families and the extremist Zionist groups and foundations.

It will be used to bash English Nationalists and further our nightmare, whereby Blacks and Asians can rape, riot, kill, push drugs and so on — while we poor Whites must suffer in silence for fear of being dragged away by the Race Police.

ALL AROUND THE WORLD . . .

Given the special news on the Holocaust Day etc. we have reduced the space for World News... sorry bods!

MEXICAN 'REVOLUTIONARY' WAS A...

Of late in Cuba there have been moves to allow Jews more freedom of religion in order to placate Washington and its boycott of Cuba.

Aside from the fact that this reinforces the fact that Washington is heavily Jewish, another interesting fact surfaced.

Recent changes allowed the broadcast of previously "hushed up" material, including a 1996 Israel radio interview with Margarita Zapata, Emilio Zapata's granddaughter and a "revolutionary comrade" of Castro.

'Zapatistas' are still active in Mexico. They are Anarchist/Marxist guerillas. How interesting that their founder and mentor, Emilio Zapata, was a Jew... So the links between Zionism and Marxism/Anarchism are further strengthened.

RAPE AND AIDS IN SOUTH AFRICA

Rape insurance is now available to South Africans, because rape is so common in the world's favourite 'Rainbow Nation'. AIDS is also a big problem in the multi-racial State.

Some 3.6 million South Africans are infected with AIDS, roughly one in eight adults, and the government says 1,500 new infections occur every day.

The predominance of the virus makes rape an increasingly lethal act for the 64,000 women and girls who are raped each year in South Africa.

The figures for rape and AIDS are alleged to be lower than the actual occurances because of the stigma attached to reporting such matters to the authorities.

Welcome to the New World Order!

LONDON EURO-MEETING

RERESENTATIVES from Third Positionist organisations from across Europe met in London in September to further strengthen the links across Europe and plan strategies to further the cause over the next few years.

Key activists were present from England, Germany, Ireland, Italy, the Netherlands, Poland, Romania, Scotland, Spain and Wales — with others sending apologies for their absence.

Following on from the first such meeting in November 1998 as well as various gatherings right across Europe, such as the recent Polish camp, it is clear that the Movement is co-operating on an international basis in serious ways.

CODREANU 100 IN BRAZIL

COMRADES IN Brazil held a commemoration on the day of Codreanu's Centennial in Rio de Janeiro. Three old Romanian Legionary fighters were present, along with many Brazilian Nationalists. Brazilian Nationalism - Integralism - is very close to the Third Position. Look out for an interview in the near future...

THE FIRST EUROPEAN TP CAMP: OUR EUROPE! OUR FUTURE!

WHERE THE Carpathians end and the Alps begin, on the Czech-Polish border area, the harmony of European nature hosted our First European Revolutionary Nationalist Summer Camp, with the title "Sword and Cross". Between August 26th and August 29th, comrades from nine different Nations gathered in a green peaceful location to feel the earth and the sky, to hail the Codreanu Centenary manifestation, to communicate and to strengthen personal friendship between different nationalist organisations.

Altogether there were about 100 Polish comrades from the NOP — the camp organisers — and about 20 comrades from the delegations invited from England, Ireland, the Netherlands, Italy, Germany, Czech Rep., Romania and Moldavia. The Welsh — for good reasons — were physically missing, although they were never far from our thoughts, especially when the singing started.

Thursday saw the customary pitching of tents and Nationalist songs being sung around a splendid camp fire.

On Friday, after visiting an extraordinary Chapel, built (in the 18th century) on 26.000 skulls and bones of people massacred during unceasing wars or decimated by diseases and misery, we started a one hour march to peacefully conquer a fortress atop a nearby mountain. More precisely, the ruins of the fortress that made history in the region years ago. With several national flags in front, with a long strong core of green NOP flags, and with a civilian rear-guard, the march successfully fulfilled its aim. On the heights, surrounded by forests and by remnants of the stone walls, our Polish comrades (discretely helped by the Czechs) lit a splendid fire camp, as night silently poured down on the Nationalists from across Europe. Around this campfire, comrades from Europe celebrated the Codreanu Centenary by a speech in English and Polish, by the presentation of a Circular by Codreanu in Romanian, and finally by saluting: 'Corneliu Codreanu, Present!'

THE WINNING TEAM: Although Poland won the football competition, we hope for better things next year...

This Codreanu 100 celebration warmly hosted by the Polish NOP — who were both honoured and happy to hold the event — wasn't just pure nostalgia but a reason for the past to boldly engage the young comrades of the present into the future. Organisers from England, Germany and the Czech Rep. gave speeches on this auspicious occasion.

Beyond the difficulties of the moment, putting aside the disastrous general perspective of our nations, regardless of the Freemasonic EU fortress in Brussels, and above all treasons and set-ups, all comrades understood the resonance of the words: 'NOTHING FOR US, ALL FOR EUROPE!'

As those words belong to a German NPD comrade, all of us can figure out that they refer to Our Europe, to our National Lands. And further more, the historical approach between the Polish and German nationalists at this very moment will certainly prove decisive for the promising future of Our Europe.

Saturday morning, sports events attracted most of the attention of the delegates. And as Europe without football is inconceivable, the host team chose to play against 'the world' - a Moldavian-Romanian-English-Czech team (our "international brigade"). On the basis of the result (4-1 for Poland) it looks like we have to work more seriously on the international field, to learn habits and moves... but maybe we'll see more teams from other Nations next year? Regardless, it is reported that the consolation goal by an Englishman brought about a standing ovation and will probably be talked about for decades (Ed: By him if no-one else!).

FLAG PARTY: The English flag joins a few of the European flags at the front of the marches, around the camp fire and at the concert.

The concert of Saturday evening, produced by the band 'Battalion' from Poland and 'Attack' from the Czech Republic, entertained most of the youngsters in the large tidy hall prepared for it. As the 'elders' (Ed: he's been reading the Protocols again!) spread away to more silent sites...

Eventually, the end of this successful European TP camp came on the Sunday. Refreshed by the peaceful atmosphere, happy with the new links of friendship, we left Poland convinced that there will be another next year.

The striking two colour 'Sword & Cross' T-shirt produced by the NOP to mark the occasion is available from FC for £8. Write, phone or e-mail for more details and to check for availability of sizes. The design can be e-mailed to enquirers.

MANY THANKS: To our Comrades in the NOP for all the campfires, marches, rallies, sports and other activities they organised over the long weekend..

CODREANU 100

CORNELIU CODREANU BEYOND ROMANIA

THIS IS THE text of a speech given by a Legionary Comrade at the First European NR Camp in Poland at the time of the 100th anniversary of Codreanu's birth.

One century ago, on September the 13th 1899, Corneliu Zelea-Zelynski Codreanu arrived on this world in the town of Iasi, capital of Moldavia. His mother was half German and half Romanian, while his father's Romanian origin is alleged to be combined with Polish blood...

THE NAME

In the Latin and Saxon world, the Captain is generally known under the two names: Corneliu — born on Sept. the 13th, the day of St. Cornelius the Roman Centurion, the first pagan converted to Christianity; and Codreanu — derived from the Romanian word 'codru' = forest, 'codreanu' meaning the 'forestman'.

Of course, most of you are aware of the life of Corneliu Codreanu, as well as you are aware of the history he generated by his life. So it is not essential here to get into the details of past events.

What really matters for us, comrades, is to understand the meaning of the facts, the Christian Faith shaped by Codreanu onto the present secularised world, the main trend imposed by him for the future of Europe: the Redemption of the Church upon our technical society in the century to come.

"Codreanu is the Sword between two worlds" - affirmed former Legionary Leader of Transylvania, Ion Banea.

What are those two worlds?

First, the present darkened by man's pride, cut off from the harmony and blessing of the Creator, the world of the man who believes himself god upon all, the world of metal and smoke, of radiation and cancer; here in this world governed by man-made tools, human communities, entire nations and even continents, still endure the Communist experience (with all its mobs, liberal connections and annexes) — a real nightmare that massacred far more people in a few decades, than the entirety of history counted in all its 7000 year long existence.

UTOPIA?

On the other hand springs the world of tomorrow. Not a utopia - as we use to be 'delighted' by the current fashionable stories. (We can observe, for instance, utopias are happening under our eyes while normal things still wait to come.) Unlike Marx's or Nietzsche's, Codreanu's world springs from the real facts of the Medieval European Christian Heritage. It is neither an invention nor an innovation in technical terms, because Codreanu did not point over material aspects. Who cares if there are horses or spacecraft? What does really matter is the spirit of man dominant over destiny.

RESURRECTION

"The final aim of a nation is not life but Resurrection in the name of Jesus Christ Our Lord" - points Codreanu. Focusing on this target - our collective Resurrection - we encounter the necessity of fulfilling the Christian commandments, together with the ethic-moral code derived from them into the traditional European society.

The Christian core of Codreanu's doctrine — expressed in a moderate manner not to offend close friends and comrades, but firm enough to keep at distance the eternal foes — made it Universal. From the British Isles to Bulgaria, and from Serbia to Norway, Codreanu's Legionary doctrine is considered an example and a clear springwater for other national doctrines. It reached such an impact in Nationalist circles that even Adolf Hitler allegedly affirmed once that "Codreanu would have been the father of all European nationalists".

Despite his international recognition, the Romanian state granted Codreanu with years of prison, with persecutions, repressions and eventually death. Between Codreanu's Movement and the succeeding Bucharest regimes (liberals, democrats, communists or social-democrats) was an increasing state of war. In 1923-24 was the Constitutional challenge, in 1933 was the Paris orders challenge, in 1937-38 the Talmudic challenge, in 1941 the military Millions of Romanians joined Codreanu's Crusade... but now his message has spread far beyond Romania.

IS CODREANU RELEVANT?

THERE IS NO doubt that Corneliu Codreanu's message has spread far beyond the borders of his beloved Romania.

The fact that Comrades in South America, North America and Europe held commemorations for his 100th anniversary speaks volumes.

The Centennial badge produced by our Comrades in the American Coalition of Third Positionists was also sold by Comrades around the world.

EXILES

Initially the Legionary exiles accounted for most of the people who looked to Codreanu's teachings from around the world — but this is no longer the case. A new generation has taken up his banner of radical Christian Nationalism.

But what of those who speak out against the Legion? Some have claimed they were nothing but criminals. Others claim they were weird occultists. Others still claim that we are wasting time on bizarre ideologies from long ago...

SHALLOW

Such poppycock shows the denigrators for the shallow idiots they are.

Not only did the Legion face death, prison and persecution. They also faced the professional rumour-mill of the usual Judao-Freemasonic power — in Bucharest, Moscow, Paris, New York...

The arch-criminals dared to call the Legion, who taught morality above all, criminals. The occult Freemasons dared to call the Legion, who taught traditional Christianity, 'esoteric' and worse...

ENEMY LIES

Since when do Nationalists believe the lies of Freemasons, Capitalists and Communists? The Legion have proved themselves time and time again, fighting and dying for Nationalism in Spain; suffering for their cause in 1941 when they were betrayed by the reactionary General Antonescu and imprisoned in Sachsenhausen and Dachau; joining the Crusade against Bolshevism on their release from the camps in 1944 after the Romanian State committed the greatest treason and joined the Soviet side, when they could have run to the West and left their Nation to the wrath of the Red hordes...

ACTIONS

It is often said that 'actions speak louder than words'. The actions of the Legion are those of committed Nationalists fighting for Romania and Europe — against the Masonic power in the West and the Soviet Beast in the East. They always acted with bravery and honour.

So are we to don the Green Shirt and become a parody of the Legion, like some Securitate-backed fools are now doing in Bucharest, or like the Brown-shirted Hollywood buffoons of some NS groups in America? Hardly!

That era has passed on. We may look romantically at it. We may look on movements like the Legion, the Phalange and the Rexists as the best examples of Nationalist Europe... but we cannot afford to live in the past.

THE REAL WORLD

We must remember the lessons of yesterday, for history teaches us much. But we must apply them to today and live in the real world.

In building the radical Nationalist alternative — whether it is in England, Spain, Germany, Italy, Norway, Poland or elsewhere — we cannot avoid to ignore Codreanu's call to create worthy militants and to never stoop to the levels of our enemies.

In other words, we must build our own national movements to save our own countries and not seek to recreate what was achieved over 50 years ago in Romania — but we ignore the lessons of the Legion at our peril!

CONSTANTIN STOICANESCU
LEGIONARY HERO AND MARTYR

STOICANESCU WAS a skilled and devoted lieutenant of Horia Sima. Sima, who led the Legion after Codreanu was murdered by the Zionist system, undertook to fight the Soviets in 1944 and sent Stoicanescu, with the knowledge of Hitler, into Romania, then a Soviet ally.

Stoicanescu managed to convince most of the important Romanian Generals to change back to the German side and to fight the Soviets, then pouring into Central Europe.

The corridor for Sepp Dietrich's SS Panzer Division was prepared by the Winter of 1944, but because of a traitor the Soviets managed to shoot down the aircraft carrying Stoicanescu and Schmidt (the leader of the Transylvanian Germans).

Both men died as martyrs in the Soviet Gulag.

Stoicanescu's memory is remembered by a Legionary Association named after him in Banat, Romania.

challenge, in 1944 the king's challenge, then up to 1964 the Gulag challenge, followed by the 25 year long Ceausescu tyranny whilst all Romania became a huge concentration camp for all its inhabitants: Romanians, Hungarians and Germans. Finally during the last decade, all significant efforts of spreading the doctrine of Codreanu all over Romania were eventually swallowed by the Gypsy-neocommunist state, and all our genuine groups are threatened even physically by the Gypsy-communist diversionist elements.

Some say that no-one can be a prophet in their own country...

This proves to be true. As God sent His Only Son amidst the most evil people, maybe Archangel Michael sent his messenger amidst the most tepid people...

For us, Third Positionist comrades, Codreanu's doctrine... is the guarantee of Victory in the decades to come.

Now I wish to thank you for your time and also to thank our hosts and organizers of this TP camp for the warm welcome and good conditions ensured here....

HAIL THE LEGION!

HONOUR GUARD

TO THOSE WHO think that Codreanu is some sort of obscure figure, there is a short story — aside from all the great Legionary sacrifices, the great Legionary infrastructures and the great Legionary ideal — which speaks volumes down the years.

Codreanu's wife was crossing a border during WW2 as just "another Romanian" amongst so many others.

When the German border guards discovered the identity of this humble refugee/traveller they formed an honour guard.

A small deed by some nameless soldiers in some forgotten place, but by this simple deed the Germans were showing the great debt they, and all Nationalists, had to the man, Codreanu.

NATIONALISM: FOR BRITAIN AND EUROPE

We have had the European Nationalism of Mosley and British Nationalism. Here one of the FC Munch Bunch argues against Westminster and Brussels in favour of Folk Nationalism.

Britain is not a Nation.

There, now that we've grabbed your attention, let's carry on.

All of us hate the EU. Of course. Who doesn't? — except for traitor politicians, money-grabbing bankers and internationalists!

But why do we particularly hate the Brussels-regime which merely mirrors Westminster with its sleaze, corruption, greed, treachery and so on?

Because it is unnatural! It is anti-national.

It is unnatural because it is a State set-up to rule over sovereign Nations. It is no longer a "common market" — it is now fast becoming a United States of Europe.

When Europe was previously a unified block in the Middle Ages, the individual Nations still had their rights, identities, freedoms etc. In fact 'unified block' is too strong a term... It was, rather, a unity of Faith — Christendom.

It wasn't perfect. There were wars (armies fought armies back then... this was before Dresden and Hiroshima) and there was famine. No-one would ever claim it was perfect... But nationhood was never at risk, nor up for debate — even when a King took it upon himself to annex his neighbours.

Nationhood was sacrosanct. The people of a Nation were fully aware of who they were, their culture, history and so on. Why else did the Scots rise behind Robert the Bruce and retake their Nation in 1314 if not for Nationhood?

So where do we stand now?

We have people screaming, quite rightly, against Brussels — but defending Westminster at the same time.

The problem here, is that Westminster is a microcosm of Brussels. It is a corrupt, internationalist, treacherous, lying, immoral, den of iniquity. It belongs to the banks and secret societies. The people there obey their masters and the people they claim to serve (i.e. us!) mean relatively little!

And what is more, Westminster is at the centre of its own 'United States'. We have a United States of Britain.

Each of the Nations in these Isles is subservient to Westminster, just as each Nation will be subservient to Brussels. The balance of power may be shifting to Brussels with even more centralisation, corruption, immorality etc. — but that does not make a return to Westminster rule the answer.

As Nationalists we oppose Internationalism. We oppose Brussels for its anti-national 'raison d'etre'. The same must be true of Westminster.

"United We Stand" claims the Westminster lackey (the same slogan could be used by the Brussels/NWO lackey!). The unsaid part of the equation is "divided we fall". It follows that anyone who believes in Nationalism automatically wants Britain's destruction...

Not so!

The "unity" of Britain is sacred. Just as sacred as the unity of Europe. Our British ties go back into the mists of time. History, blood, culture and more link and unite us. But our European links are just as important.

NATIONALISM: If he has voted for the SNP he has betrayed Scotland to another centralist power in Brussels.

Our warriors fought in the Crusades alongside French, German and Italian troops. Scottish men fought in French armies. Norsemen settled in Scotland, Ireland, England and Wales. Flemish people settled in West Wales... and so on and so forth. Our Race, our blood, has descended from the Celts, the Romans, the Saxons, the Danes, the Normans and more.

An argument often used by the Westminster 'Nationalists' is that the British are the same Race. But the same argument could be used for uniting England, France, Germany, Denmark etc. Nationhood starts with Race, of course, but goes way beyond that!

Nationhood is defined by Race, history, culture, blood and soil. That is what makes the Scots distinct from the Welsh. That is what makes the French distinct from the Germans.

Whilst the peoples of Britain have strong links of culture and history and whilst Europeans have strong links of Race, these are the things which provide the bedrock for our Nations.

He who says, for example, that Scottish Nationalism will "destroy Britain": if he means the Westminster State — I hope so! Don't we all dream of that day? If he means our shared British identity, history etc. — nope

Unless we take a huge axe and chop Scotland off and tow it to Africa, she will always play a part in the British Nations and the European Nations.

The real danger lies with the "Nationalists" (sic) who see the future as a part of the United States of Europe. That would be even more disastrous for Scotland than the United States of Britain. It would suffocate Scotland. It would destroy all nationhood, including Scotland's.

True Nationalists are right, in that respect to oppose the Scottish National Party in Scotland and Plaid Cymru in Wales (aside from the fact that both parties will destroy their Nations by welcoming multi-racism).

So, as Nationalists, what is our aim?

It has to be sovereignty for each Nation. That automatically includes small Nations — whether Estonia, Denmark or Scotland.

And for those who shreak that Nationhood will "destroy" Britain? Treat them as the Westminster stooges that they so obviously are. As Nationalists, Nationhood is not some "optional extra". Nationhood is dear to our hearts and a fact not open for debate.

Ask the Westminster stooge: Is Scotland a Nation? The answer is obvious. Why then, will the Westminster stooge not allow Scotland her Nationhood?

That is as unjust as our being shackled by Brussels!

NATIONAL HERO: Robert the Bruce led the Scots to National Freedom. No matter how much they might wish otherwise, Scotland is a Nation with National rights — and there is nothing the Westminster stooges can do to change that FACT!

The Voice of St. George ran a headline 'Neither Brussels Nor Westminster - Independence for England'. The English have nothing to fear from Nationalism — and everything to gain, not least Freedom, but also the respect of their Anglo-Celtic neighbours.

Are we Nationalists fighting for our ancient lands? Or are we the playthings of Freemasonry defending their power structures?

Freedom and Nationhood lie outside Westminster and Brussels.

Together, as folk Nationalists, we can fight the State and move forward to the British Family of Nations in a Europe of Free Nations.

MICHAEL HOFFMAN: REVISIONIST

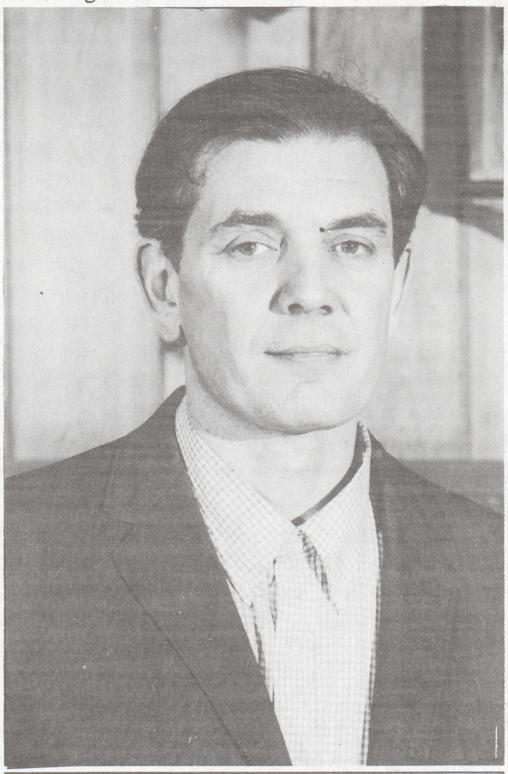
Michael Hoffman is a well known Revisionist scholar, not only in his native America, but right across the world. As such FC was chuffed to bits to be able to interview him, thanks to the efforts of a TP colleague in America. A edited version of this interview appeared in The Voice of St George #18.

1. Unlike most people who write for Nationalist journals, you once worked in mainstream journalism, thereby giving you insights that most of us never have. Can you explain the 'atmosphere', the 'people' in this journalistic world, and tell us why they are so anti-Nationalist, so keen on promoting what is objectively evil?

I can only speak for the American scene. The "atmosphere" is largely dictated by the assembly-line that churns out journalism graduates from the colleges and universities. The reporters all think alike because they were all filtered through the same sieve--the modern college and university with its fetish against everything traditional, heterosexual and white.

This wasn't always this way. In the old days, a high school drop-out could become a reporter if he had a talent for writing and digging up facts. Typically someone like that entered journalism through a form of apprenticeship, as H.L. Mencken did.

They started by hanging around newspaper offices as adolescents, changing typewriter ribbons, sweeping floors, toting dictionaries, doing some fact-checking. If they had tenacity and were willing to discipline themselves to the demands of the trade, they might eventually get the opportunity to fill in for a sick or otherwise absent reporter. It would be a one-shot, make-or-break opportunity and the better guys made it. They brought with them a world view as diverse as their own individual backgrounds. They weren't all cut from the same leftist university mould. You had some real independence, and this made for a news media with a more original and more open perspective.



Michael A. Hoffman II

That would be improbable now, except at the level of the lowliest small town newspapers, or 10 watt radio stations. Any hope for the future of mass communication rests with alternative media - forming our own publishing and Internet enterprises. This isn't to say that there are not some good reporters and editors around. There are a few, but not many - and even the few who are somewhat honest and independent are enslaved to careerism. They dare not buck the totalitarian dictates of their corporate overseers, because they have their eye on Joseph Pulitzer's prize and failing that, job security and a pension.

2. You have been considered an anti-Establishment figure in America for quite a few years now. Do you consider yourself 'anti-Establishment'? If so, how did you move from mainstream journalism to what might be called "the outer limits"?

I don't see how any thinking person can be anything but "anti-Establishment" these days, since the. Establishment seems determined to flush 3,000 years of accumulated wisdom and heritage down the sewer in favour of the most unspeakable ephemera on the one hand, and obsequious pandering to foreign pressure groups on the other.

I was fired from my job as a reporter, because I dared to produce a documentary for radio on the Israeli holocaust against the Palestinians. A Jewish medical doctor made it his life's work to see that I was sacked and he succeeded. My defenders on the staff included a sum total of one man. Outside the radio station, only two people came to my assistance. Two Jewish intellectuals came to my defence, civil libertarian, Noam Chomsky at M.I.T., and Dr. Alfred Lilienthal, but they did not prevail. So I was forced to resume my journalism outside the Establishment media.

3. Part of your recurrent critique of Hollywood and its products is that the film industry constantly targets Germans, Arabs, Christians and Whites in general. Why do you think that there is this targeting? What effect do you think this targeting has on both the targets and on film audiences? Do you think that Nationalists have any hope of countering this massive propaganda offensive by the so-called "entertainment industry" given the disproportion of means that exist between us and Hollywood? Are there any hopeful signs at all?

The targeting constitutes psychological warfare. It's all about imposing false guilt because such guilt leaves deep psychic scars and paralyzes people to the extent that they refuse to defend themselves against their own exterminators.

This trend can be combatted but to do so, people will have to work hard to gain the skills necessary to edit and produce our own documentaries professionally to expose the process. The technological tools are affordable and available. What is needed is the will to create our own media and the network to distribute it.

4. It is probably true to say that the label most commonly thrown at you by your enemies is "revisionist". Do you accept the label? If so, why? If not, why?

I wish that revisionist was the most common invective that was hurled at me. But because "revisionist" is an honourable and legitimate--if controversial-- term, in the history of scholarship, this is actually a phrase that is seldom used to describe me. My enemies prefer the terminology of dogma and hysteria, specifically the politicized taxonomy devised by Deborah Lipstadt, that of "Holocaust denier."

It's a laughable term, actually. I mean, imagine if someone was labelled a "Resurrection-denier" or "Virgin-Birth denier" in reference to doubts about Christianity. Anyone in our day who discriminated against such a "denier" of Christian truths would be regarded as a daft fool by "progressives."

Suddenly, however, when it comes to this new religion that has taken hold in the otherwise agnostic West, the religion of the gas chambers, it becomes a mortal sin in the eyes of the "progressives" to doubt homicidal gassings at Auschwitz, and the doubter is transformed into a "denier" and thereby made a candidate for imprisonment and impoverishment.

Since this is all done in the name of "democracy" by politicians and media executives who loudly proclaim the right to doubt everything except Allied World War II claims and Auschwitz "Survivor" tales, one discovers something humorous here--a pomposity and suzerainty that is laughable, given the milieu in which it is advanced.

A revisionist is a historian, who accepts the bedrock principle of historical investigation - that as a result of ongoing research, new facts about the past are constantly coming to light and in response to this new information, the record of the past is constantly undergoing revision, and rightly so. History and learning are the better for such revision, but dogma is destroyed by it.

5. Whatever your reply to Question 4, it is certainly the case that you have taken a great interest in the historical debates surrounding the events of the last war. When and why did you begin to question the views of 'orthodox' historians?

I was very fortunate to have been raised in a family of what might be termed extreme individualists. On my father's side were a number of inventors, pioneers, and 'heretical' bibliophiles.

On my mother's side, my maternal grandfather was a successful businessman, who had inside knowledge of American political skullduggery. He knew, for example, in 1960 that Joseph Kennedy was a mobster who had bought the presidential election with votes furnished by the Chicago Mafia on behalf of his son, John F. Kennedy. I was a young boy at the time, but I remembered what grandfather told us and it was shocking. Decades later it came out that he was right. So from an early age I had an inkling that so-called 'current events' and what is called history were not what they seemed.

I learned to doubt - to be skeptical - attitudes that used to be regarding as indispensable components of the scientific method, and still are, when applied to officially-approved areas of inquiry. Now that we are entering a neo-Bolshevik era, we must be careful about what we dare to doubt and what illusions we scrutinize and question, less we end up in a dungeon.

6. Some may say that this is all well and good, but what is the relevance of revisionist history to us in the here and now; and what relevance will it have as we approach the twenty-first century?

The modern mentality, formed by television, video and the electronic-visual in general, is fundamentally amnesiac - it causes people to forget realities, truths, traditions. Modern people think that the present is all there is, because its imagery is so ubiquitous and overpowering. We are like Narcissus staring in the mirror forever at the image of ourselves in our current manifestation.

Since the past largely does not exist in the digital/visual realm, but in the typographical realm of the old Gutenberg universe, it comes off a distant second in the eyes of the modern person.

The teaching of the Classics is an important antidote to our present ignorance. What could be more germane to the struggle for national renaissance today than the writings of Homer? Odysseus was a sole survivor because he learned the hard way that he had to pay heed to the laws of heaven. For a world drunk on this moment, the Homeric epiphany is anything but high-brow or irrelevant. It is in fact, vital survival lore, without which we may go extinct.

This is why it was preserved and passed down so assiduously, becoming, at the height of the English public school phenomenon, as it arose at Eton, Harrow and Rugby, the very font of English character.

It is catastrophic to depart from this wisdom tradition, to think we can dump overboard the lessons of millennia without ill effect. Chesterton put his finger on it, amid the mania for voting and democracy, when he said that he believed that we should give the dead a vote. We enfranchise our ancestors and fortify ourselves when we teach the real history of great men.

To this I add the necessity of resisting and exposing the "new religion" of the Auschwitz gas chambers, which is a covert attack on the whole of our traditional civilization as something so vile and wicked it requires the mediation of Judaism to re-shape and rescue it.

This is why so-called "conservatives" are so impotent. They pretend to want to defend classical Western civilization while at the same time making an accomodation with Judaism. This is impossible because the two are mutually exclusive. The canon of Western literature is brimming with very unfavourable appraisals of Judaism and its adherents, from Shylock to Fagin. The West, in its essence, represents hostility to the mind-numbing regimentation and racism of Talmudic Phariseeism, and the clandestine subversion and megalomania of the Kabbalah.

One cannot "reform" Western civilization into a 'way of life' pleasing to Judaism without destroying it. This is what conservatives do when they continually repudiate a vast portion of what was central to their Western heritage, in order to win favour with media bosses and politicians. These "conservatives", in fact, conserve nothing.

7. You have written a number of books over the years, in addition to your extensive writings in journals and bulletins of all kinds. Two in particular seem to have garnered a lot of interest. The first concerns your book on the origins of slavery, and the second concerns your recent work on Secret Societies. Can you please: (a) give us a synopsis of each book (b) explain why you chose to research and write on these subjects (c) give us some idea of the positive and negative responses that you have had to these books?

"Secret Societies and Psychological Warfare" is a book which I like to think takes the study of Freemasonry, and what lies behind it, to a new and different level of understanding. One cannot understand the history of Great Britain without grasping what happened to it beginning with Elizabeth I and the door she flung open to her court magus, John Dee, who is the actual godfather and architect of the occult movement that came to be known as Freemasonry; and which had nearly fatal consequences for the destiny of the people in Scotland, Wales, Ireland and England.

The main insight I've tried to impart in this book is "The Revelation of the Method," the final dictum of the process of human alchemy, the transformation of Man into Beast. I'm afraid it's too complex to discuss in this brief format, suffice it to say it centres on the deliberate revelation of secrets by the Cryptocracy itself, in order to lock down its hold over humanity at this late stage in their peculiar game plan.

My other book consists of the history of the enslavement of whites in industrial Britain and early America. It largely arose out of my great curiosity regarding the fate of early factory workers and miners, workhouse children and so-called "indentured" labourers and "convicts." With all of the wallowing in the annals of black enslavement, I was amazed to discover how little attention was being accorded the record of white enslavement; after research on both sides of the "pond," I wrote "They Were White and They Were Slaves: The Untold History of the Enslavement of Whites."

As far as reactions and impact goes, there are more than one million youths in the U.S., who are being educated at home. We have sold many copies of my books to these eager and curious home-schooled students, who are learning outside the government-operated schools and who will undoubtedly form the leadership of the next generation.These modest sales figures might give some publishers a terminal case of ulcers.

Moreover, the nature of my material is so avant-garde and forbidden that an aura has arisen around both of my books, and they have had their entry in elite circles. Professors at the university level are beginning to write of other categories of "unfree" white labour, other than the rigidly and absurdly limited indentured and convict categories. They are beginning to approach the articulation of an awareness that white slaves existed. Two years ago, a major book from an establishment publisher used my white slaves' book as the basis of their mass market hardcover book, "The Redneck Manifesto."

Meanwhile, my book on "Secret Societies" has been translated into Japanese and published in a hardcover edition in Tokyo.

What the ultimate repercussions of my writing will be I cannot say with absolute certainty, and in one sense it does not concern me. We seem too obsessed with results and we often work less, or less than we should, unless we can be guaranteed "results."

The task of the writer is to do his duty, by doing the very best job that he can with the tools and talents afforded him. The results may be instantaneous, or they may be felt only in the distant future, by posterity; but the motive, the impulsion, has to be doing one's duty. As Dorothy Sayers said, "The only Christian work is good work, well done."

8. We understand that you are currently working on a couple of new, as yet untitled, books. Would you care to tell us a little about these books and when you expect to publish it?

Because 75% of my time is spent on fund-raising and only the remainder on writing and research, I confess to be working rather fitfully on these two books. One is for the commercial market, whereby I intend to "slip through" my themes in what I hope will be a popular, if macabre, history of the hanging of poor whites in 18th century Britain.

The other book is a paperback intended for mass distribution through Movement networks. It's on the religion of Judaism. There has never been such a study utilizing all the resources and revelations that have come to the fore recently . I am writing a heavy, shakedown analysis, from the root up, of Judaism. The core of the book will be my contention that far from being the religion of the Old Testament, Judaism arose in Babylon after Christ's crucifixion and after the destruction of the Second Temple. If I am successful, this book should go a long way toward dissuading the better portion of authentic Christianity--the remnant, really--that Judaism cannot be reconciled with Christianity, and is in fact inimical not only to the New Testament but the Old Testament as well. I am beginning my analysis with the foundational texts of Judaism, starting with the Mishnah.

9. How do you see the Nationalist Movement in general moving forwards? What do you think is being done that is wrong/ misguided/pointless; what do you think is not being done which should be done?

I suppose the biggest problem is the lack of ambition, initiative and enterprise. We're keen on talking about the boldness of a Francis Drake, but personifying his daring and inventiveness seems to be another matter. We are too much focused on seizing national governmental power, and that focus blinds us to other avenues that are wide open to us if we have the character and the backbone to make our own way.

For one thing we should be trading with one another to our advantage and to the disadvantage of those outside our circle. The establishment of successful businesses and commercial enterprises is paramount. We should employ our own people and trade with our own and build our power and influence partly by such means.

Businesses can be made to flourish. Quiet networks can be developed. Loyalty must be rewarded and traitors strictly ostracized until they repent and reform. We have ideas and information for which the world is hungry. Why should we not use our ingenuity in marketing them and in building a community in the process? Reading, talking and praying are fine to a point, but by themselves they are essentially contemplative. Men and women of action, who have truth on their side, should be the most successful people by every yardstick - spiritually, academically, and materially. I think we're too fond of the image of the starving artist, the neglected visionary and the persecuted martyr. Our ancestors were not comfortable with such designations. They overcame all odds to be winners and achievers. Destiny will accept nothing less from us

10. What signs, if any, do you see of an awakening to the catastrophic situation of our civilization? Do you think that there is hope for a revival, or are we destined to enter into another "Dark Ages"?

Our success is certain and inevitable because we represent the Life force. Our enemy in his ascendance has a history of self-destruction, of always overplaying his hand and pushing people beyond the limits of toleration.

There will indeed be turmoil and trials and setbacks in the years ahead. Many will mistake these necessary upheavals and growing pains as ultimate doom and decay. Others, endowed with a longer view, will recognize birth pangs, not death throes.

Certain Black Magicians - and I use that term in the sense of those who are adept at psychological warfare, not in the sense of stage magic or superstition - are intent on sowing despair, defeatism and fear in our ranks, preying on the disconnection of the "goyim" from their racial memories and classical wisdom.

But the only thing we ever have to fear is the wrath of God, and we can only kindle His anger by failing to do our duty. If we do our duty, God will be faithful and do His.

Toward the end of Bram Stoker's Victorian novel, "Dracula," as the wooden stake is driven into the heart of the fiend, the vampire is seen to smile in relief. Illusion and wickedness have no right to rule. When affairs become so unnatural that they reign, nature conspires in their overthrow, an overthrow in which even they rejoice, as Stoker suggested.

Those who desire evil work good in spite of themselves. The Columbine school massacre in Colorado last April has focused attention on the harm that TV, video and atrocious films have wrought. This attention is very welcome. Much good has come of it. Parents are withdrawing their children from government schools, and home-schooling is increasing in numbers due to the Columbine massacre. Evil was intended, but Good has come of it.

I emphasize the importance of family life to any Movement for national renaissance: stable marriages consisting of dedicated husbands and wives; large families with children, who are educated according to the great principles of our heritage. There is no substitute for such families. Where these are lacking, nothing much else can succeed. The roots such families plant take a long time to grow, that is true. But such roots run very deep and are difficult to uproot. We are in the predicament we are in today due to our own shortcomings and weaknesses.

Contraception and abortion have weakened us. We need to eschew these failures and build anew, beginning with the fundamentals and do so without any sense of panic, of having no time, which only exacerbates our difficulties. The apocalyptic mentality, which has been sown in our ranks, is not helpful. It leads to desperate, "emergency" measures, which in the long run signify very little. We must take the long view.

11. Do you have any last words?

Love one another. Forebear with one another. Let there be less in-fighting, hair-splitting and suspicion among friends and allies. So what if people don't agree with us with total unanimity? If they are of good will and kindred spirits, let us see what there is to celebrate among us. People are naturally attracted to joy and happiness. Such joy is infectious and highly attractive to others. If we are not enjoying the struggle we should get out of it. I'm having the time of my life doing what I was put on this earth to do. There is no happier destiny.

MAKING CONSPIRACY CRAZY

Dear FC,

while none of us will deny that David Icke has done a sterling job of exposing the NWO conspiracy to the general public neither can we deny that he's also made a number of embarrassing cock ups .

But they all pale in comparison with his Alien reptilian scare featured in his latest book. Reading Nexus magazine I came across a letter written by a Ivan Frazer who publishes a magazine called Truth Campaign who actually edited the book and told Icke that there were a number of inconsistencies.

Icke assured Frazer that as it was only a first draft once the book was finished all inconsistencies would be ironed out . But instead of sorting the problems out Icke got either further into the realms of 'never never land' by being taken in by a agent of the NWO called Arizona Wilder who claimed to be a ex mind control agent.

According to Cathy O'Brian and the Montauk people who have actually been under government control the whole reptilian nonsense has been a long time scheme to throw people off the scent and discredit the whole conspiracy theory .

At first Mr. Frazer recommended that people read the book because there's a lot of truth buried underneath the nonsense but when Frazer realized that people where ignoring the truth and focusing on the nonsense he's since withdrawn his support and is now recommending that people do not buy it.

D.R., London.

Ed: This brings us back to the article in FC #18 which attacked the UFO-types out there. The enemy tries to paint all conspiracy theorists as loonies. No-one can deny there are conspiracies (look at the 'From the Horse's Mouth' quote on this page!) — such as the evident one to get homosexuals into positions of power in Westminster and elsewhere. Whether Icke has been fed lies or is knowingly lying is up for debate... but the harm done is obvious. His wacky writings, alongside good material on the Protocols, Freemasons etc. calls into question facts about the NWO. Only recently Icke gave a talk on an 'internet talk radio show' entitled: "NWO, Reptilians And World On The Edge".

A RON-TYPE CONVERT

Dear FC,

Thanks for the latest issue of FC. Great stuff!

Are you going to make the back cover [of #22 - Ed] into a poster or sticker. I do hope so!

By the way, yes it's true! FC does cure hangovers. I got my copy after a Friday night on the beer and I felt better straight away!

NR, Kent.

FROM THE HORSE'S MOUTH:

England's only Jewish Prime Minister was Benjamin Disraeli (1804-1881), who in his book, Lord George Bentick, wrote on page 357:

"An insurrection takes place against tradition and aristocracy, against religion and property... by the secret societies which form Provisional Governments, and men of the Jewish race are found at the head of every one of them. The people of God (Jews) co-operate with atheists; the most skilful accumulators of property ally themselves with Communists; the peculiar and chosen race touch the hand of all the scum and low casts of Europe; and all this because they wish to destroy that ungrateful Christendom."

WHAT ABOUT FIRST WORLD DEBT?

Dear FC,

we had Live Aid in 1985. Now we have Netaid in 1999. One thing which has improved is the fact that the assorted egos and sexual deviants taking the opportunity for some publicity are at least addressing the matter of debt and not just the symptoms.

This leads, however, to some other questions which the trendies seem unwilling or unable to ask. First of all, are the leaders of the Third World trustworthy? All the CIA Puppets and Red Puppets are so corrupt will the Third World peoples benefit?

One only has to look at what some spent the loans on - grand state buildings, dams and other white elephants. Alternatively, civil and tribal wars have meant that millions are spent on arms while people starve. And that is just the beginning...

Closer to home 'Netaid' raises even more interesting questions. If Third World debt is so bad (and we as Nationalists view all usury debt as 'evil) then is the national debt of the 'First World' any better?

A real debate on this would raise the whole question of private enterprises, like the Bank of England, holding entire Nations to hostage. Why are we all paying obscene amounts of taxes? Why are schools and hospitals underfunded? Why does the government borrow off a private bank when it could simply print its own money and not have to pay any debt back?

The whole situation stinks to high heaven — and if the 'luvvies' and pop stars at Netaid think only Africa, South America and Asia are effected by debt, then it just goes to show how little they know!

P.E., SE London.

THE RED BEAST: STALIN

Dear Ron,

recently a correspondent sent me a copy of 'The Nexus' #15. It's leading article was on the merits of Stalin's strong leadership and opposition to World Zionism and Imperialism. All well and good? Not so!

Whilst aware of Communism's Talmudic pedigree, I actually went to the trouble of looking closer at "the man of steel". From "The Six Million Reconsidered" (available from FC for £4) page 91 we learn that Comrade Stalin's real name was Djugashvili which in his native Georgian means "Son of a Jew" — or should that be 'Son of a Bitch'?

Stay strong and alert in resisting the filth and lies,

G, Ulster.

Ed: This letter was in the post when the last issue of FC came out with the review of the book on Stalin. The Nexus features in our book 'Satanism and Its Allies'. The magazine is a part of the National Bolshevik internationale. Stalin and Imperialism eh? Who made the USSR spread across East Europe? Will wonders never cease? What a bunch of horse manure!

GREETINGS FROM THE CAPTAIN

Dear FC,

I went today to see Captain Priebke to give him five copies of FC: He was delighted to see it and he asked many things about FC. He promised to help spread the word. What a sponsor!!

He sends his best salute to all the Comrades who fight against Freemasonry, Capitalism and Communism and that he says: we will overcome our enemies!!!

The Black Knight, Italy.

NB: 'The Nexus' and 'Nexus' are mentioned in letters on this page. They are two separate and unconnected journals. Nexus deals with various conspiracies etc. The Nexus is a pro-Satanist 'National Bolshevik' journal based in New Zealand.

POLITICAL CORRECTNESS

THE POWER of the media is all pervasive. It enters our homes every day with the worst kinds of political correctness. So how can we fight back? FC has found a cheap and easy way!

Whether it's faggots smooching on Eastenders, race-mixing on the latest Hollywood film or a book brought home by a young relative from school with characters called "Ranjit" and "Shamila" - political correctness is everywhere!

FROWNED UPON

And yet, not so long ago things like race-mixing and homosexuality were not only NOT on the agenda - they were positively frowned upon.

It is a testament to the positions of power obtained by the enemy, and their fortitude in fighting for all things unnatural, that they have managed to change things for the worse so quickly.

Whether we have the fortitude to fight back against these filth as vociferously is another matter... But there was a time, not so long ago, when the media carried items which were non-pc to say the least.

COMBATED

Now's the time for Nationalists to dig these things out and ensure that copies are kept. This is especially important for Comrades with children, so that any nonsense pushed in school can be combated at home via books and videos.

So where do we begin?

FAWLTY

We can start with videos from a few years back. Surely we all remember Fawlty Towers and Basil Fawlty's hilarious response to the black doctor treating his wife's in-growing toe-nail? Or what about the Major's treatise on "Niggers and Wogs" in the same series?

Side-splitingly funny! But most un-funny to the pc-brigade and something they would dearly love to ban! Keep it on video while you can...

"RACISM"

And there are plenty of other programmes out there. No-one is saying for one moment that all of them are perfect or even Nationalist per se — but in a world where "racism" is fast becoming worse than any other crime (and on a par with murder and rape as far as the police and DNA testing are concerned!), having programmes which we can play to others to remind them that "racism" is quite normal, funny and all the rest of it will be a part of the fight against the pc-brigade.

But best of all, especially when it comes to children being forced to read multi-racial garbage, are some of the books to be found

Then Fagin turned to Oliver. " So you wanted to get away, my dear, did you?" said the Jew, taking up a jagged and knotted club from the fireplace. Oliver made no reply, but he watched the Jew's motions and breathed quickly. " Wanted to get assistance ; called for the police, did you?" sneered Fagin, catching the boy by the arm. " We'll cure you of that, my young master." The hideous old Jew inflicted a smart blow on Oliver's shoulders with the club.

out there in second hand shops, charity shops, jumble sales and car boot sales.

There are still plenty of "healthy" kiddies books around from the 1950s and 60s. These don't have today's "token" non-Whites and often push English and European history in a way you'd never see in today's "dumbed down" books.

ROMANS AND SAXONS

This writer found a great example recently in a well known Cancer Charity shop, which cost 40p. In a book entitled 'Children Through the Ages', part of 'the Pilgrim Way' series (published by Blackie & Son in 1955), primary school children were taught about Egyptian, Greek Roman, Celtic, Anglo-Saxon, Danish, Norman, Elizabethan and Stuart life.

PRIMARY

Primary schoolchildren! Can you imagine? Today they'd be reading rubbish about "Magbool and Rasheed Going Fishing" — if they can read at all!

Of course we all know about the great achievements in America, and increasingly in England too, by families who homeschool their children, but it is wrong to think that many Nationalists could take this step right now, though if more enquired about existing homschooling help groups - it would be a good start.

Putting books like this into the hands of young children is a good start. It allows our children to get an interest in our history and stay one step ahead of the modern education system.

OLIVER TWIST

Another superb example is 'The Story of Oliver Twist by Charles Dickens - Told in Pictures' (published by DC Thompson - of The Beano fame - date unknown). This was bought a year or so back for 10p.

As you can see from the pictures republished here — this is about

- HOW TO FIGHT BACK!

as un-pc as you can get! But whilst anyone publishing this sort of thing today could be looking at dawn raids from the thought police, whipped on by the Board of Zionist Deputies, keeping these books and lending them to young relatives is perfectly legal!

SCREAM

There's not one thing the haters and freedom-takers out there can do about it. They can scream "racism" till they are blue in the face... but in so doing they are merely condemning generations of Englishmen as well as writers like Dickens and the makers of old comedies like Fawlty Towers.

Such antics show the pc-brigade for the anti-White haters that they really are. They are book-burners. They are the ones who hate freedom!

Let us fight them with every book and every video we can find — before they empty all the shops of anything even remotely "racist"!

Will Charles Dickens be cast out as a "racist"? What about Shakespeare — in many English polls the man of the Millenium — who created the character Shylock? Can the pc-brigade afford to denounce them? Or will their political kneejerk reaction get the better of them? Either way, Dickens and Shakespeare are powerful allies against the "anti-racist Mafia".

CONCERTS

IAN STUART MEMORIAL. 25th September, Derby.

Around 300 English, German, French and Italian Comrades turned up to honour the memory of Ian Stuart. Conquest set the pace, to be followed by the Welsh dudes Celtic Warrior, who played a right blinder. Next to storm the stage were warlord who played their usual heady mix of Skrewdriver covers and their own superb material. They really got the crowd going. Last up were Whitelaw who played a corking 30 minute set.

A great night out was had by all — well done to all concerned.

IAN STUART MEMORIAL. 2nd October, Midlands.

Around 100 dudes gathered to hear White Power classics. First up were The Blackshirts who played material off their debut CD. Next up were 'HMF' from Sweden. Their singer was wild on stage and really got the crowd grooving. After rebuilding the stage, Warhammer played 30 minutes of faves, with a 1 minute silence in memory of Ian Stuart. Next on were Chingford Attack and last but not least were Razors Edge who did all their classics.

Another good night out. Hurrah!

MUSIC

La Isla de la Memoria by HYPERBOREA. ✦ What can you say about this CD except - FANTASTIC? For a start it is dedicated to Mota and Marin the two Romanian Legionaries who gave their lives fighting for the Nationalists in the Spanish Civil war.

Hyperborea's songs are sung in Spanish, but the music is so enjoyable, I think most English-speaking people will thoroughly enjoy this CD too!

Some of the songs are cover versions of old Italian Nationalist folk-ballads. La Tierra de Thule (originally performed by the Company of the Ring in 1974) is brilliant, as is Nuestras Canciones Asesinas (originally performed by Massimo Morsello). Another song, Pequeño Atila is dedicated to the TP martyr Nanni de Angelis and has the melody of the old Irish song 'The Foggy Dew'.

Hyperborea expertly mix traditional folk music with guitary-rock. This CD is destined to become an all time classic and is highly recommended. ☺☺☺☺☺

Viaggio al Termine Della Notte by HOBBIT. I'd heard a lot about this band and their music. The first song of the CD, simply titled 'Hobbit' mixed acoustic guitar, some sort of pipe music and even twangy 70's style guitar work... all very catchy stuff. the third song, 'Unovoequattrocinque' is a mix of ballad material and heavier riffs and deals with the criminal destruction of Dresden. The band mix styles with ease and retain a professional sound throughout. The CD will have a wide appeal — which explains Hobbit's good standing in Italian Nationalist circles. ☺☺☺☺

Blood & Soil by BULDOK. ✦ This CD is definitely for you mean drinking Vikings out there. All the sings are in English and the music is of the very highest quality. It would fit in well on a Heavy Metal type compilation - but you don't get the overpowering guitars nor the screaming. The only drawback for me was the fact that all the songs seemed to deal with similar topics. But don't let that put you off - this CD is a corker! The best songs are probably 'Blood and Soil', 'The Flag of Truth' and 'Salutation to the Brave' (the chorus of which goes: "When the darkness grows/ And the ancient pride is forgotten/ And the sly alien poisoned the rivers if life/ A nation falls to the realm of oblivion/ A kingdom of the Elders of lies."). Good stuff! ☺☺☺☺☺

✦ - means it's available from Final Conflict by mail order. CDs are £11, Tapes £6.50. Everything else individually priced (see review). Support Final Conflict — buy from Final Conflict!

Unity Through Aggression by WHITE WASH. More American Thrash-style heavy skinhead racial rock. Clichéd lyrics, aggressive style, racist chants... you know the score. Musically, it's not too bad - quite a powerful style, but nothing very inspirational. ☺☺☺

Enemies of the State by THE BRAWLERS. This CD, out on Panzerfaust, will appeal to those who like heavier skinhead music. It isn't too bad and the singer's a real growler. You know the stuff - Condemned 84 gone mad with a few 'racist' songs, one which takes its name from a Quentin Tarantino soundbyte - Dead Nigger Storage. Whilst Tarantino can get away with it in his trashy films, this sort of stuff would be highly illegal in most of Europe. There's a funny song, 'Delia's Gone', which turns out to be a Johnny Cash cover. The other gem, of only for sentimental reasons for the skins out there with middle aged spread, is a cover of Blitz's 'Someone's Gonna Die'. ☺☺☺

Celtica by CELTICA. ✦ Opening up the sleeve to this CD you think: "eh up - bagpipes?" and lo and behold that's how the first track opens... and it works very well. The overall feel is very professional - a polished rock sound with the bagpipes cutting in at opportune moments to give the music that 'Celtic' feel. I suppose this is the nearest Nationalist sound I've heard to the superb Scottish band Runrig. It's all in Spanish (why are no English language bands knocking out stuff of this style and quality?), but you lot who only buy CDs if they're in English will be missing out big time if you snub this one. And this kind of Nationalist music deserves all our support. ☺☺☺☺☺

Out of the Darkness by VENGEANCE. ✦ This tape is a bit of a 'blast from the past'. Vengeance were a well known 1980s Nationalist band from Norfolk. This tape is heavier than I remember. It seems that they were an early version of Squadron and had they kept going, perhaps they could have polished up their act and become as professional and successful as Squadron have been. ☺☺☺☺

Armia Boga by NARA. ✦ This band played at the recent European TP Camp in Poland so it was with great interest I listened to this tape. The band are very professional and quite heavy. Songs include the title track ('Army of God') as well as songs about 'National revolution' and one about Oswiecim (Aushwitz). For those of you who know Polish, the lyrics are in the tape sleeve - which is adorned with a Polish version of a well-known 'Forza Nuova' poster. All in all a good tape and a good addition to the international scene. ☺☺☺

Valiant Heart by BRUTAL ATTACK. ✦ What can we say about one of the best bands about? Not the best of their CDs... despite gems like 'Retaliator' but then, there's a lot of competition. The CD finishes with five bonus tracks from a 1987 demo which went on to become 'As The Drum Beats' - and these are stronger than the other 14 tracks, even though the quality is that bit rougher. ☺☺☺☺

Rebel Power by REBELENE. W This CD is of Rebel Rock n Roll. Don't expect songs about General Lee and the like, there's nothing so openly political on this CD — but if you like good songs and are prepared to sing along to Redneck Rock n Roll, then this one's for you! ☺☺☺☺

LITERATURE

This book amounts to the autobiography of John Bean. It starts with his early life, which I found fascinating. The blitz years, travelling to India after WW2 and so on. The author does a good job and its a shame the 'story' seems to end somewhat with his political years. Of course you get the ins and outs of the 1960s New Labour Party, British National Party and later the fledgling National Front, but you lose some of the more 'personal' side of the author.

Some of the highlights of the book are as follows: "Choose your people with care. Give the crooks and the maniacs a wide berth. Quality in this movement is immeasurably more important than quantity" - AK Chesteron to the author in 1955. Around the same time the Daily Sketch published figures showing that 98% wanted restrictions on immigration - with 80% wanting it stopped completely!

The book also shows various aspects of the Nationalist movement - mostly in the 1960s and 70s - which young Nationalists today may have little knowledge of.

Rosine de Bounvialle - now the octogenarian editor of Candour newsletter - is giving several kind mentions - including some great League of Empire Loyalist stunts, including the disruption of the 1957 Tory Party Conference in Brighton. Readers wanting further info, photos, press cuttings etc. should write off for back issues of Candour (see ad in this and each issue of FC).

An incident which few people will be aware of is the murder of a young Nationalist - Anthony Donnelly who was repeatedly stabbed by three West Indians in Hackney, East London, in 1981. Donnelly was an activist from the NF Constitutional Movement - one of the splits from the National Front.

John Bean remains an unrepentant Nationalist. Of course readers will have different views of him as he takes a "populist" line and opposes revisionism. In some ways the author is quite close to the TP ideal. For example, the author recalls an article he wrote in Combat in 1963 supporting Black separatists like Muhammed Ali in America. Whilst this may seem quite normal today, over 35 years ago this was quite new! He is also resolutely opposed to the globalism of Capitalism and the tyranny of Communism.

However, the author regards the 'Jewish question' with disdain. Whilst we would agree with him, for example, that funny uniforms and marches for the sake of it (he refers to it as 'coat trailing') are counter productive to Nationalism — we cannot afford not to mention certain truths as regards International Zionism. True, there are many money-grabbing gentiles at fault too, but when it comes to the power behind world politics, Freemasonry, it is a known fact that it is primarily Jewish by design.

That is not to say that every supporter should have this rammed down their throats, but we should not fear to mention such things. Anyone can study history and find out these facts for themselves.

Another aspect of the book - harking back to AK Chesterton's words - is that the Nationalist cause attracted many good and loyal people; but it also attracted what Bean refers to as "social misfits and psychopaths" which did the cause no good at all. The author also refers to homosexuals in a couple of places in the book - from Mosley's Union Movement to the NF. For example, three "Nationalists" who unfurled a pink 'Fairies for Fascism' banner at a rally after the law was changed to allow buggery in private for the over-21s. He also makes it clear that Martin Webster's homosexuality was well known in the late 1960s — yet he was still allowed to run the NF for most of the 1970s! The fact that an article from Webster appeared in #197 of 'British Nationalist' (Oct/Nov 1998) shows that people have not learnt the lessons!

The book is highly recommended, if only because it is Nationalist history told by a Nationalist. No doubt some people around in those days may have a different angle on events, but better this book than a load of rubbish from a Lefty (or dare we say Zionist?) hack with a reason to knock Nationalism.

Many Shades of Black is available for £8.95, plus postage, from: John Bean, PO Box 97, Newmarket, Suffolk, CB8 8WT, England.

CINEMA

'THE 13TH WARRIOR'

Based on a novel called 'Eaters of the Dead' this film chronicles, in retrospect, the exploits of a warrior-band of Rus Vikings and their reluctant Arab cohort who are sent to subdue a fearsome race of man-monsters who dwell in caves on foreboding cliffs and venture down to kidnap make war and kidnap Viking women and children.

Aside from the 'name' actors, this film includes an impressive cast of European and Euro-American talent; Dennis Storhoi, Vladimir Kulich, Clive Russell and John De Santis.

The Arab, played by Spanish actor Antonio Banderas, is initially sent by his father to the chieftain of one of the Rus tribes on an errand, (his monologue mentions "journeying through the land of the Khazars" on the way!).

After his arrival however, the emissary is advised by a tribal oracle that he must accompany the Viking's war-leader son, Buliwyf (Kulich) and his 11 comrades on a most dangerous mission to aid another Rus tribe whose men have been decimated in continuous warfare with the cave-dwellers. (This comes by default to the Arab, as the oracle warns that the '13th warrior' cannot be a Norseman, and must be a "foreigner".)

The adventure begins in earnest and the 'getting acquainted' is characterized by observant suspicion, the Arab learning to speak in the Norse tongue by listening to the men talking and laughing around the nightly campfire, and continuing to record everything in writing. (The Viking elders in the village had previously communicated with the emissary in Latin through a Norse translator.)

Although conflict and dissension does occur, the men of both races gradually come to respect each other's sense of honour and martial capabilities. A pleasant and unexpected feature of the film is the rather obvious first regard that the Northmen and the Arab each hold for their own backgrounds and people. (This is especially refreshing when considering that the film was released by Touchstone Pictures, which is headed by the Zionist Sumner Redstone (actual name Murray Rothbein) and owned by the Disney Corporation of Zionist Michael Eisner.)

The only weak point, beside an obvious but discreetly scripted and filmed fondness which develop between the Arab and one of the young village women, herein and throughout is the chronic 'sour' expression on the face of the old king's noticeably younger wife, played by American actress Diane Venora, who looked as though she was perturbed at having been cast in a non-feminist role. Otherwise the film remained as life and proper order should be; the men were men and the women were women!

The film has several heroic battles which, amazingly for Hollywood, showcased the outstanding martial qualities of the Norse Warrior, especially war-leader Buliwyf, the band learned that the cliff- monsters were in reality fur- and- claw-clad men, and that these unworthies congregated around a semi- demonic 'goddess/queen' whose lair existed in the deepest recesses of the rock cliffs.

The final scene saw the Arab been seen off on his return trip, by longboat, to his homeland by Ragnar (Storhoi). Each waves in respectful farewell; bidding in turn, "Good-bye Arab". "Good-bye Northman".

Thoroughly trashed by American critics, not at all surprisingly considering that it does much to portray an ancestral European group in a fair light, this inspiring film was hustled out of cinemas in the US after a few short weeks.

Maybe if Comrades 'spread the word' before-hand about this well-produced, positive film, which utilizes an ancient European base and gives quite an accurate, and very inspiring, portrayal of an ancestral European people, it will have a more successful and beneficial showing throughout Europe.

RANTING RON - FOR FAMILY, GOD & NATION... NOT ISLINGTON PUBS!

ANOTHER WHITE VICTIM

THE FOLLOWING is the true story of a young White man dragged behind a pick-up and left for dead.

Because he is WHITE this story was ignored by the world media. Local bureaucrats are denying it's Racial. Just imagine if he were Black and the assailants White... It would be a different story then!

It would be on News at Ten. Bill Clinton would sob crocodile tears. Scum like Searchlight would use it as an excuse to clamp down on lawful Nationalists.

But, sorry folks. This is just another White person attacked by non-Whites.

As FC has said before — White people just do not count to the powers-that be.

That is why we must always fight to make the Nationalist movement stronger — to provide a voice for all the White victims whose plight is ignored.

MARTIN, S.D. (August 25, 1999 10:45 a.m. EDT http://www.nandotimes.com)

- A white man beaten and left for dead with a rope around his neck was found near an Indian reservation in what authorities are investigating as a possible hate crime.

Brad Young, 21, of Martin was in critical condition early Wednesday at Rapid City Regional Hospital. He was found early Saturday, about seven hours after the alleged beating, amid tall weeds near the Pine Ridge Indian Reservation.

Three suspects were in custody.

Bennett County Sheriff Russel Waterbury said Young was kicked in the face by people wearing steel-toe boots. He said it was nearly impossible to identify Young, who also had severe cuts and rope burns on his neck.

Young's mother, Carol Bucholz of Lexington, Neb., said her son's left ear was almost torn off and his right ear was badly damaged, but a plastic surgeon said both can be repaired.

The sheriff said the suspects - Louis Means and Byron Bissonette, both 18, and a juvenile - had been partying with Young the night of the alleged beating and Young had bought them alcohol.

Waterbury called the incident a hate crime - Young is white, the suspects are American Indians.

He said Young was pulled around by the rope tied around his neck.

"They dragged him all over that field and left him to die," said Lila York, Young's cousin. "It's out of hateness. Why else would anybody do that?"

Bucholz said she didn't believe her son knew the suspects, "so why he was with them we're not sure at this time."

County Commissioner James Slattery disagreed with the hate crime theory.

"I didn't hear it was racial," he said. "I heard it was alcohol and dope."

The FBI is investigating because the incident happened on an Indian reservation.

In June 1998, a black man was chained to a pickup truck and dragged to death along a road in Jasper, Texas. Three white men were charged with killing James Byrd Jr.

HOORAY FOR THE IRISH!

Q. On his recent tour of Ireland, why did REM's singer Michael Stipe remark that he hoped the Irish people were not as bigoted this time around?

Was it:

A. Because nobody went to his gigs last time?

B. because Dublin's queers rejected his advances?

C. Because an FC supporter battered him senseless in Dublin town centre for his pro-abortion views and sodomite ways?

Answer: C.

GOOD GOLLY!

DO the folks at Campaign Against Racism and Fascism (C.R.A.P.) know something we don't? In an article against Gollywogs in the September 1984 issue of Searchlight they said that there was an "anti-Semitic" version of the Gollywog produced in Edwardian times.

How was this Gollywog different? CRAP said it had a "hooked nose and leering features"! If CRAP are saying they are typical Jewish features then maybe they are guilty of "anti-Semitism" too?

Maybe this explains their break, sinc 1984, with the Zionist orientated Searchlies...

ZIONIST PAEDO-NEWS

MEANWHILE, in the same issue of Searchlies, Gerry Gable explains why he is such a bitter and twisted man.

Harry Bidney was a leading anti-fascist, pimp, paedophile and more (see FC #20). Gable's opening line in Bidney's obituary is "I first met Harry when I was 12 years old."

Oh ducky! No wonder Gable think's he's a "great anti-fascist hero" and not a degenerate predatory homosexual paedophile, as he was described in court in 1977 when found guilty of living off the earnings of prostitutes.

After all, everyone remembers the good points of their first love!

XS is the Scottish Sunday Mail's magazine. In its 17/10/99 edition there's a piece on Hollywood actor Jeff Goldblum. It turns out that Jeff is into the Cabala - Jewish occultism which is central to Rabbinical teachings. It includes swinging a chicken over your head at night! XS also has a regular Tarot feature. How enlightened!

BOLSHIE HYPOCRITES

Just to show that the Reds never change their tactics:

"We continue to speak of the small farmer, the poor small farmer, and we never say that the farmer, no matter how poor and small he is, manifestly generates capitalism... It is very true that the campesino has been a pillar of the Revolution, that he was always in favour of it, that he fought in the Sierra, that he was one of the first to join the Rebel army. In spite of this, he must be eliminated."

— Che Guevara, July 11, 1964

UNILATERAL LOOTERS?

Whenever one sees a photo of German soldiers and works of art in the media we're told of "Nazi looting". Much of the time one assumes this relates to taking works of art from criminals like the Rothschilds and putting them in museums and public buildings.

On 12/9/99 the Sunday Times magazine said "both the Germans and the allies" seized booty. Nice of them to be more open.

With the Bolsheviks streaming into Central Europe is it any wonder that works of art were taken from the advancing brown horde which destroyed, raped and murdered its way across Europe?

Besides which, who are the Westminster stooges to cast aspersions? The stone of destiny? The Elgin Marbles? Our museums are full of "looted" artefacts.
